POST-CONCERT DINNER
RECEPTION IN THE EQUITABLE CENTER

“Every time we were together...he was enormously erudite, perceptive, fun, serious... the whole spectrum of his personality. He had a capacity for this entire range, all the time.”

Leonard Bernstein, Rosamond Bernier, and Adolph Green.

“How happy your friendship makes me. It fills me with the simple and complicated joy of knowing there can be a meaning to life—that our haphazard and rambling walk is filled with endless connections into the past and the future. What I’m saying is—I’m not writing—I’m only looking for a way to say I love you, my friend.”

—ADOLPH GREEN
